Monique Myers

To You

11:50 AM

Hey,

I did speak with the Chief this morning about that. I will work with the other guys to make sure we try to accommodate that for those guys. Also, I spoke with Dallman about making the squad selections known to the sergeants in case they have any input. He stated that he plans to share that with the supervisors at the meeting on the 11th and we can talk about any people that we feel should be placed on different squads. He has not issues with us moving who we have on the squads as long as it makes sense.

Don't ever think that. I don't

I know you wouldn't, but I know people often call out for bullshit. If

Oh, nice! Well thank you very much for asking, and him for allowing the night off! ❤️ Notice Roger's email asking to switch his Friday (this Friday) and he'll work a thanksgiving?

😘 ❤️ of course.

Yeah with your request I suggested a change - going to 7 for the whole week instead of 8 on the weekends.

Argument being since call volume is usually down in the fall/winter and we had to give someone to cover in case you all would appreciate it if we can make it easier to take off on the weekends.

And no I didn't get his email I don't think.

Only reason I mentioned it is because I'm not marked off and he's requesting to change the dates with someone I'm assuming because we are at minimum so Always will. Yeah holding off changing the schedule because he wants to "double check" with Humphries first- but he doesn't see an issue with it - and told me to tell you to plan on being off. I told him what you were doing. Suggs agrees too it's a good idea.

Probably so but he hasn't asked any of us. You're first in line to my knowledge to ask for Friday.

Gotcha, and about the hat thing.. I thought they were supposed to discuss that on Wednesday. Was it not brought up during their meeting?

Greg is meeting with Humphries next week. He will discuss it further then.

You've got a good job that you like and you're surrounded by friends and family here that care about you!

Ohio and Minnesota don't have any of those.

What are your thoughts?

Yeah, and I know that's what is on my mind the most. I see a lot of pros and cons all the way around, I'm torn.

What are you torn on the most?

It's something I really wanted to do a couple years ago, and I remember all of the AGR guys I spoke with said they wouldn't do anything else. Super easy job, great pay, don't have to put up with the standard Army bullshit, etc. The pay is better, better retirement, better insurance.

Plus

I need my bowling partner.

So there

Yeah but you never know unless you try, right?

What little I know*

Well thanks.

Days and eves supervisors would do well if they just acted like the supervisor THEY wished they had when they were patrol officers.

Instead you get selfish and self serving

If serving is below you the leadership is beyond you.

It's supposed to be harder, you know. You don't get to get promoted with the idea of doing less.

That all makes sense, and fits just about every one of their supervisors with the exception of one.

Good things to keep in mind. No one's perfect with all of them, of course. I work to do the right thing, stay on the right path, and encourage others to do the same.

You figure you probably know people who don't follow some of those values and they are a mess. Can't take care of themselves. Can't trust them. Word means shit.

Well, that's probably why you and Keith are the most sought after supervisors. I'd guess Keith was a Freemason as well just by how he acts / carries himself.

And I do know many of those people

He isn't - but he fits the criteria.

Ha what you mean?

Trynna find step-serg a girl, so this chai-boy can be set free to meet Natascha McElhone

And happened to be on a call with someone, and we started discussing marital problems and where life goes from here, and I was talking you up!

Tsk tsk. So easily discarded!

Oh boy 🤦

Hey, who knows 🤷

🤷 I'm sure that talk went well

Oh for sure, and that woman?! 😢
反腐 Definitely going to Ireland
now to meet my wife

Dispatch needs to unfuck themselves.

Wait I thought we were going to Ireland??

And yeah that's not great with dispatch. I'm assuming because she was already out of the water but still. I at least need a standby text

If she's in the picture, I'm sorry but it's a no for me!

And for sure! Fire was dispatched pretty quick, we have a marine patrol they forgot about I think

Will you be my bowlentine?

Is that a yes? 😊

Ask the Irish girl

I'll have to see if I can work that

I'd rather ask you, then her!

You're already written down as a yes, there is no other option!

If you insist

Yeah I had marked you off when you put in the OTR to make sure the days were available

Fuck you I guess 🤦 I didn't even notice, it's weird because it was sent in a chain email from my Interdiction OTR with Keith as the receiver. Wasn't a new email, it was a "reply" to a previous OTR

Who knows

No clue, I am laying down now though. Gotta be up early for extra duty. Be safe tonight!

Stay away from 66

Thanks. Sleep well.

How is he yours if you're mine???

It's a polyamorous relationship

I'm your chai as he is to my chai

No joke.. plan on announcing Dive Team vacancies anytime soon?

Hmm not sure. Have to talk to Humphries

Gotcha, welp I'll train for both!
Tips on what to focus / train?

For dive - distance swimming and treading water.

For swat - running, shooting, building clearing, swimming

Appreciate it! 💪 going to try and get a nap in before work. Thanks for the heads up!

No worries! Sleep well

My only complaint, other than that I was super happy to see everyone and be back out patrollin

Yeah.....that sounds awful. When do they come out?

My body is supposed to absorb them (they're dissolvable stitches) but my body is bringing them to the surface instead of absorbing them. I've been pulling away at them piece by piece as they come to the surface except for the corner ones because they're pretty stuck

Hmm. Weird. Cut them out with that SOG you got then put duct tape over it.

You're good. I read fast. 😂

First - don't let people guilt trip you.

One of the most important things someone told me once is "It's okay to say no."

It really is. You can say no. Everyone else tells you no. Why can't you? It's fine. They will get over it and realize that you are standing up for yourself. If that's all it takes for them to kick you out of their lives then the bond wasn't that strong to begin with.

You're anxious and stressed because you are still in a stressful situation.

Living back at home has been a nightmare for you.

Having Lexi back has turned into exactly what we thought it would.

Like we said. You are back to being pushed around and used.

You need space. I know you worry about finances but moving to Alex's and putting some distance between you and parents/brother/ Lexi is easily one of the best/ healthiest things you could do for yourself. In my opinion.

Yeah, It's just hard for me to pass off people's feelings like that but I'm gonna have to learn to do that, cause it's theirs or mine.

it somehow?

Sure you can. My ammo. My price is $0.

Yeah had a Sig P229 in 357 I sold
a few years back.

I don't generally charge for stuff I don't want unless it's something crazy. I'd rather see y'all get some use out of it.

You can buy me a beer one day.
Good enough.

Well. I don't generally charge the cops I work with for little shit.
That's like charging family. 😂

Firefighters are double. General public is triple.

Well we can call it a beer and some fishing/boating trips then or a day out on the range, or if you want to trade for anything (Gun

Congratulations!

Also you are not a let down!

Discussed it with my dad this past weekend, and spoke with a few of my NCOIC's from the 305th.. not gonna take it. It isn't a position I would enjoy much. I joined to deploy / train, not sit behind a desk.

Yeah, im torn cause I love them both. Weigh out pretty evenly as far as pros/cons go.

Oh wow 😮 Im sure there has to be, I've heard it's difficult to get on!

Yeah we don't have openings but so often

Like the dive team

Yeah, small department with even smaller manned units make it difficult to get a rotation in!

Gotta strike when these things come up!

Same with investigations. People want to wait

I know, blunt and direct! 😊 I appreciate it though, it's honestly so hard to describe. I love her, love being around her, but can't stand a lot of it.. especially the infidelity part. Maybe a shrink could help? That's what mine says anyways 🤷‍♂️ counseling, infidelity recovery, shrinks, and better communication would solve a lot of it I think. Just not sure if I want to pursue that yet or not.

Yeah I dunno.

To me you deserve better, and she hasn't earned you. Infidelity is a big part but everything else sounds like a relationship you'll continue to be miserable in.

Which is why I've always said part ways and move on

That's so much easier said than done.. I want it to work, just not sure she can manage to change that much.

I'll figure it out, probably down the road of another broken heart but That's good that you're taking the steps you need to get yourself together! Really sounds like you started going sideways when you quit the meds. Def don't beat yourself up about that - it's not a weakness.

Nah come on now I told you that you weren't getting fired. We don't want to lose you we just want you to be successful and keep you on track.

Yeah, I can see it from two different perspectives is all and chose the wrong one I guess.

I know you said that but it was still something I was worried about.. and I know, one of the biggest factors why I wanted to stay in Mids so bad.. cause y'all are all great supervisors so I definitely didn't want to lose that!

I appreciate that! It's seriously all your decision though. You do what you think is best for you and we will support that.
